WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1934

WHOLE NUMBER 1240

School Trustee Candidates

The school code requires that each candidate for the office of subdistrict trustee shall make known his intention of becoming a candidate for such office by filing, in writing, a notification to the superintendent of schools of his county district, not less than fifteen days nor more than sixty days prior to the election July 14, 1934. On the second Saturday of July between the hours of eight (8) a.m. and four (4) p.m., the election shall be held.

The law requires that each candidate for subdistrict trustee must file a pre- and a post-election expense account. The law stipulates that this pre-election expense account must be filed fifteen days before the election and the post-election account within thirty days subsequent to election. Due to the fact that so many candidates failed to file their election expense account fifteen days prior to the election, we advise those who failed to file expense accounts fifteen days before the election to file any time before the election. The courts have held that if they filed within a reasonable time it would hold.

Below you will find listed the names of the subdistrict trustee candidates in each subdistrict. Those listed include those who officially filed their intentions of becoming candidates fifteen days prior to the election. A few candidates who failed to tender their resignations were not placed on the ballot because they were already in office and held for another year or more. The names listed below are official and stand to the best of my knowledge as substantiated by the records turned over to me.

LIVESTOCK LOANS

Make arrangements early for the money you will need to buy feeders and stockers this summer and fall. Is the advice of Bernard E. Whit, inspector for the Big Sandy production credit association, to prospective livestock buyers. "Already the advance guard of the seasonal run of native and western ewes is appearing at the markets. With local rains through the states bringing on the feed crops and pastures many farmers are looking forward to stocking up with money-making 'woolies,' remembering the comfortable profits produced during the past several seasons by these two-legged animals. Both wool and lambs have been on a profitable price basis, while the incidental gains from the farm value of the manure and the utilization of roughage which otherwise is wasted are important factors also."

"Money for buying stocker ewes, and for all other livestock production operations," states Mr. Whit, "is readily available to experienced and qualified livestock farmers thru their production credit associations, which are units of the farm credit administration of Louisville and of which there are 12 in Ohio, 10 in Indiana, 12 in Kentucky, and 10 in Tennessee. The Big Sandy association, located at Paintsville, serves Morgan county."

"However, forwardness in arranging finances is as essential to summer and fall livestock operations as planting and growing the feed supply," states Mr. Whit. "Never before could farmers finance their program at 5 percent interest a year, which is the present cost of money thru production credit associations. Some borrowers, however, have been disappointed that the association could not supply the loan application and pass the money out over the counter the same day. Borrowers should allow ten days to two weeks time for securing loans. Plan ahead and start arranging for money in time to allow for handling necessary details, so the production credit association may have the money available on the date when it is required. Interest, of course, begins only when the money actually is advanced to the borrower, so he loses nothing by securing commitment of the loan in plenty of time. Furthermore, in cases where funds are required at intervals thruout a period of perhaps several months, a budgeted loan may be arranged in which specified sums are advanced at stated periods. This enables important savings, since interest is paid on each installment only as the money is actually advanced to the borrower."

"Every county in the four states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee is served by a production credit association, these organizations being under the supervision of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville."

A Newspaper Policy

A newspaper exists to print the news and to support good acts and when necessary to criticize bad acts. A newspaper which yields or is swayed from doing its full duty by trimming its sails to grant favors to every passing wind cannot hold the public confidence. Honesty and equal consideration for all is desirable everywhere, but it is indispensable in a newspaper.

COUNTY BUDGET ACT

Frankfort, Ky., July 4.—The county budget act passed by the 1934 general assembly became effective on July 1, 1934. At Frankfort for the installation of county budgets and for maintenance of budget records have been approved and sent out by the state inspector and examiner's office to all county judges of the state. A force of four experienced assistant inspectors and examiners, especially trained for this work have been assigned to all parts of the state, beginning work on Monday, July 2, to cooperate with the county budget commissions and fiscal courts in putting into operation the new county budget system, according to Nat R. Sewell, state inspector and examiner.

Mr. Sewell says there are, at this time, approximately one third of the counties of the state that are using some kind of budget system in the handling of their fiscal affairs. Such changes as may be necessary to bring about full conformity with the new act may be made at any time within the next fiscal year. Approximately two thirds of the counties of the state have never operated under a budget system. A large majority of these counties have requested that the system be installed at once. Mr. Sewell believes that all such counties will be operating under the uniform budget system within the next sixty days.

The experience of those counties already operating under a budget system shows conclusively that a very positive saving in revenue and a more satisfactory system of operation of the fiscal affairs have been effected thru the following of the budgetary plan. Mr. Sewell said. While the new budget law makes it compulsory for all counties to operate under the provisions of the 1934 act, the adoption may be made at any time within the next fiscal year.

Mr. Sewell states that a response to questionnaires sent to all the county judges of the state show that a very large majority of all the counties in the state desire to begin operations under the 1934 act at the earliest date possible. "As a result of investigations made in all the counties of the state in the last two and a half years, I am fully convinced that every county in the state will save revenue by adherence to a budget system, and the aggregate of such savings in the commonwealth will certainly exceed a million dollars the first year," Mr. Sewell said.

BEAUTY PAGEANT UNDER WAY

Miss Charlotte Russell of Morganfield, Kentucky, has arrived and has taken charge of the beauty pageant which is being sponsored by Holly Coffee Post No. 68 of the American Legion. This pageant is being conducted in connection with a state-wide program of the American Legion. The winner of the local pageant will be sent to a district pageant to be held at Morehead, Kentucky, on July 19, with all expenses paid. The winner of the district pageant will be sent to the state convention at Ashland in August with all expenses paid, and the winner at the convention at Ashland will be sent to the national convention at Miami, Florida, in October. The judges will be selected from some other Legion Posts and will not be personally acquainted with any of the entrants of the pageant.

This pageant will be given at the high school auditorium in West Liberty on July 10 at 7:30 o'clock p.m., and will be a county-wide affair. Miss Russell will visit a number of the neighboring towns and villages and will accept the entries for this pageant and she must have the cooperation of the members of the post in working up this pageant if it is to be a success. It is anticipated that there will be from 35 to 40 girls who will participate in this event and there will be a number of novelty numbers on the program. These specialty numbers will all be home talent and will be well worth the price of the admission. The girls who take part in the pageant will not be permitted to wear bathing suits, but must wear street clothes or evening clothes.

Miss Russell wishes to express her appreciation for the cooperation already extended her by the girls of West Liberty, and she hopes she will receive the same sort of assistance from the girls all over the county.

Visiting Here

WOULD BOYCOTT FILMS

New York, June 25.—The organized drive by organized religious bodies against objectionable motion pictures was endorsed June 23 at a meeting of the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches. The sentiment of the meeting favored recommending that members of Protestant denominations in the United States and Canada cooperate with the Legion of Decency, a Roman Catholic organization pledged to stay away from theaters that show films regarded by it as objectionable.

Congruence of country-wide threats of boycotts against vicious films has been taken by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., in a revision of its methods of self-regulation, according to Will H. Hays, motion picture czar. The appeal board that has been operating in Hollywood, with power to overrule the industry's production code administration's recommendations, has been abolished.

Full responsibility for passing upon the character of films made now rests in New York with the board of directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors. It is stated that the authority of the production code administration, working directly in contact with the studios, will be increased, and continue its work under Joseph I. Breen as director.

The Federal Council of Churches committee also recommended that Protestants refuse to patronize motion picture theaters "which persistently show indecent or otherwise objectionable pictures or offensive vaudeville features, or which use questionable forms of advertising."

Noted Lecturer to Come

Judge Fred G. Bale, a noted Chattanooga orator, has been secured for a lecture to be given at the West Liberty Methodist church on Thursday evening, July 12, at 8 o'clock. The lecture is entitled "The Fiddler and the Fire," or "The Truth about Youth," and is of especial interest to parents and teachers. This extra special lecture will be a real treat. No admission will be charged.

Could Do Better

When the Courier-Journal pointed out that the special session of the legislature had cost the people of the state more than $100,000, a member of that body figured it out that when distributed among all the population the cost would be only about 5 cents per head. So far as I am concerned, if I had the nickel I would not spend it for a legislature.

LEGION NEWS

Saturday, July 7, 1934, will be the regular meeting date for Holly Coffee Post No. 68. We especially urge all of the members who can be present at this meeting. We hope to make arrangements for transportation to the state convention, which will be held in Ashland, and to make arrangements for those who wish to make a reservation at some hotel. We also wish to discuss the matter of working up the beauty pageant that will be conducted on July 10, at 7:30 p.m., at West Liberty. Legion Posts all over the state are putting on these pageants and in putting this one on we are shuply cooperating with the other Posts over the state. Miss Charlotte Russell of Morganfield, Kentucky, will be the director of this pageant, and she will also present a number of novelty numbers from home talent and they will all be good. Miss Russell has had considerable experience in working up these pageants and we hope to fill the high school auditorium on the night of the 10th when this pageant is presented. You Legionnaires tell your friends about this event. If you know of some girl who should be in this pageant, or of some person who is especially good in some line of entertainment, please get in touch with Miss Russell or the adjutant of the Post at once. This is a Legion activity and we are expecting you fellows to be loyal and to put this over in a big way in the same manner that we have every other thing that we have undertaken. Be at the meeting Saturday and be at the pageant on the 10th.

J. BLAINE NICKELL, adjutant.

A Calamity Impending

Before adjourning, the state senate finally passed the whisky bill which provides for a production tax of 10c a gallon on whisky. In the debate before the legislature the argument was continually advanced that the imposition of any whisky tax beyond the 5c per gallon tax which had been previously levied would drive the distilleries out of Kentucky. The bill is now in the hands of the governor and the governor is being besieged to veto it because it would drive business out of the state. Wouldn't that be just too bad?

FEEL SHOE PINCH

Chicago, Ill., June 27 (AP).—Brand-new sales taxes as "unsound, inequitable, and regressive" the American Federation of Teachers today adopted a resolution calling for its abandonment and asking that in its stead reliance be placed upon income and inheritance taxes.

In another resolution the teachers demanded that tax exemptions be removed from all securities and income.

"We are quite willing to surrender our tax exemption privilege along with other citizens of the nation as a means to overcome this antisocial feature of our tax laws," the teachers, who are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, asserted.

The resolution attacked the sales tax as a violation of the principle of ability to pay and charged that it takes an unfair share of the workers' earnings, especially when applied to food and clothing.

Mr. and Mrs. Beekham Cuskey and son Harry E. of Pontiac, Michigan, arrived here last Friday to visit Mr. Cuskey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cuskey. Accompanying them also were Mrs. Burns Cuskey and son Robert.

Science Battles Alfalfa Disease

Specialists Endeavoring to Conquer Bacterial Wilt Through Midwest.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture—WNS Service.

In the very heart of the alfalfa belt—Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Iowa and Illinois—the bacterial wilt has been spreading, reducing yields, and cutting short the profitable life of alfalfa stands. Specialists have learned that the planting of a resistant variety is the best counterattack. They are testing resistant strains and are breeding new varieties to combine good qualities with resistance to the disease.

Bacterial wilt dwarfs the plants, first reducing yields—and causes a yellowing of the leaves. Infected plants usually die after a year or so, leaving space for weeds to creep in and injure the quality of the hay. In Nebraska many growers have been letting alfalfa grow as a non-permanent hay crop, not included in rotations. Where wilt is severe many fields now cease to be profitable after three to five years. Unfortunately some of the hardest alfalfas—Graham and Cross—are attacked severely by wilt.

To combat wilt, the United States Department of Agriculture sent a representative to the Caucasus and Turkestan in 1929 in search of resistant varieties. Under tests the Turkestan alfalfas have proved considerably more resistant and in hardiness. Laboratory and greenhouse work has speeded these tests. Plants grown under glass are then subjected to winter temperatures produced artificially to test their hardiness. In tests of wilt resistance, alfalfa seedlings grow in a greenhouse through the winter. In spring they are inoculated with wilt and transplanted. By fall the specialists can give a close estimate of their wilt resistance.

Scientists are carrying on an intensive breeding program with a view to developing resistant hybrids that yield heavily and that do not have some of the other undesirable characteristics of Turkestan alfalfa.

Seek Serum for Plague Infecting Farm Horses

Unusually numerous cases of infection epidemic encephalomyelitis, sometimes erroneously called sleeping sickness, have been reported to the United States Department of Agriculture in recent months. This untidy which affects the brain and spinal cord of horses and mules is not a new disease, the department points out. Studies of recent outbreaks in Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, show that the disease is the same as the condition commonly termed "orange poisoning," "staggers," "Kansas Nebraska horse plague," and "epidemic spinal meningitis." The disease sometimes goes by still other names.

Intensive studies by the department show that the disease is of an infectious nature and is caused by an invisible virus. This virus produces a disease which is very similar to one reported several years ago in California and which has occurred also in other states west of the Mississippi. However, it has been found that the eastern virus possesses certain distinct characteristics different from the virus causing the western disease. The efficacy of serum against the disease has been questioned and laboratory experimentation is in progress.

Don't Feed Whole Soys

The problem of soft pork has been a serious one in certain hog producing sections for many years, notes the Prairie Farmer. Some markets get a large proportion of these hogs and necessarily pay out a lower price range than the markets of the corn belt. For many years soybeans have been fed to hogs in the corn belt and because of this many farmers feed hogs a high percentage of soybeans. A high percentage of the soybeans are valuable for their high protein content. They should not be fed to hogs but will be marketed. Feeding of the meal after the oil is removed is safe and does not cause soft pork.

Kill the Woodchucks

Woodchuck holes are a great nuisance. They may cause a horse to break a leg, while the animals may break the cutting bar of a mower or at least blunt the knives. Search out all of the holes and plug up all exits. Into the entrance either put cyanide cyanide or else use the exhaust of an automobile. To use the automobile attach a pipe and run the engine for twenty minutes, then plug up the hole and go to the next burrow. In the case of cyanide also the burrow must be carefully closed, preferably with damp earth. When using both these methods care must be taken.

Soil From Salt Marshes

Black soil from salt marshes in all probability contains certain amounts of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash, while not as readily available as in commercial fertilizer, will add some plant food to the soil. The organic matter in the black soil will also be of considerable value in improving the physical condition of the cultivated lands, especially if they are sand or of a sandy nature. Where the cost is not too high, the application would be profitable.

To really enjoy the benefits of Mavis Talcum, as millions of both men and women now do, sprinkle or lightly massage the same incomparable Mavis Talcum over the entire body. You're The Loser

WHEN you allow Headache, Neuralgia, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains to keep you from work or pleasure. You can't go places and do things when you are suffering—and the work or good times won't wait for you. Why allow Pain to rob you of Health, Friends, Happiness, Money?

I have been using Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for thirty years. No matter what kind of pain I have, they stop it almost instantly. Never without them in the house.

Mrs. Chas. W. Webb, Indio, Calif.

You too may find quick relief. Why wait forty minutes for relief when Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills will relieve you in ten to twenty minutes?

As a household remedy I have never found anything that equalled Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. I never found anything that was so good to stop pain as Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. I have told many about them and I find they are all using them.

I have been using Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for years. I keep them on hand all the time. I can certainly recommend them for pain.

Miss Audra Seybold, 2417 W. 2nd St., Dayton, Ohio

Your Anti-Pain Pills have been a wonderful help to me. I have used them for three years and always keep them on hand.

This neighborhood was visited Sunday about noon by the most severe electric storm and downpouring rain in has had for years. The wind tore down timber and blew down corn, and the rain drowned young chickens and turkeys. That goes to show you that God in His infinite wisdom can cause a "cut out" when He sees we deserve it, just the same as the president and congress. Look if you please at the great destruction of crops in different states caused by God's omnipotent hand, and yet there are people who will tell you, "It just so happened."

People in this great wide domain of God's (not ours) will say we'll cut your crops, and kill your hogs and cattle, and tell you what you can work at, and how long you can work, and just how small a wage he will pay you. When will the end be? Let us hope for the better.
